The eighth army corps was sent ed. The eighth army corps was sent around to the right while our corps, the 19th, marched straight forward. We fought the enemy back over the same ground that we had traveled until we reached that night our camping place of the morning. We recaptured our guns and took 45 guns from the enemy. The soldiers would have died for Sheridan. When he said "Forward!" it seemed to go like magic through the lines.

At West Town Street.

At the West Town street school there were Memorial day exercises Friday afternoon. All the pupils of the four rooms were in the senior room. The patriotic songs Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching, The Star Spangied Banner and in closing, America, were given. The Gettysburg Speech, The Blue and the Gray, Captain, My Captain, were recited in concert and the Salute to the Flag was given.

The commander of Sedgwick post Orrin M. Price, told most interestingly of how he came to enlist at the age of 16, of his experiences during the war, of the time spent up the Mississippi river. For over a year he was color bearer, and he showed bits of the silk flag carried from Connecticut all through the years of the war. Genuine confederate money the children saw, this was the only money in use in the south from 1861 to 1865. Firday morning Mr. Price had received from Colonel Gale a $5 bank note of the Thames bank issue May 7, 1849. Accompanying it was a card saying: "On the back is this notation. Rec'd At West Town Street.

Accompanying it was a card saying. Accompanying it was a card saying. "On the back is this notation, Rec'd from union soldier in part payment of food." The bill has just drifted back from its wanderings, Mr. Price sald, and will now be kept at Buckingham Memorial.

Gift for Miss Webb. At the Town street school, when street school.

Miss Mabel S. Webb, the drawing teacher, reached the building Friday morning and opened the door of the senior room, she was greeted by "Good morning!" in concert from the pupils of the five rooms gathered to meet her. Principal Tarbox said a few words alluding to her going away and the sense of loss that would be felt by them all, that their best wishes went with her. Then he presented a camera, the gift of the pupils, and the school flag from the senior class. He expressed the hope that when she looked through the reverse of the glass she would see clearly pleasant pictures of her associations with the Town street school.

Miss Webb was genuinely surprised and pleatsed. In response she alluded to her being the senior teacher in point of time, that her first teaching was there. She spoke of being in one of the schools this week when the teacher was using a camera and of wishing to own one, and of this coincidence.

Mrs. Thurston E. Barber of Peck's Corner took a trolley trip to Jewett City Thursday, then by carriage to Griswold, where in Pachaug cemetery she placed roses and carnations on the graves of her husband, children and parents, also on the tomb of her Colo-nial and Revolutionary ancestor, Gen. No. 44 Laurel Hill Avenue, Furnishings Included, Known as The Kenyon Property.

The house occupies a commanding location on Laurel Hill avenue with grounds extending through to Summer street. The main floor has large, handsome drawing-room, library with built in bookcases, spacious dining-room, a writing room with walls wholly celled with fine hard woods, well planned kitchen, with large new Richmond range, a laundry equipped with set tubs, clothes boiler of stone construction, and a sixty gallon, heavy copper boller connecting with kitchen stove. There are large pantries, china closets, etc. On the second floor there are six bed rooms and out door sleeping porch, and a well arranged bath room with walls handsomely celled in hard woods. The spacious attic affords ample room for storage purposes. From the glass inclosed cupola surmounting the house entrancing views of the surrounding country may be had. The house is built of wood and has a brick lining, making it easy to heat in severest weather. There is a nearly new Putnam vapor heading system and all plumbing is in fine condition. New conductor pipes were placed upon the heuse and the exterior was nicely painted in November 1913 at an expense of nearly $1000. With the exception of a few family heirlooms, the house and its furnishings may be purchased for the sum of $7,560. The drawing-room furnishings alone cost $8,500. The Aubusson carpet having been made especially for it in Germany. A crystal chandelier of unusual beauty and richness of design is a pleasing feature of this fascinating room. This is a quality house, built on hener, and its central location should commend it to some business man desiring an attractive hems.
